This interactive session will look at the why's and how's of including children's voices in the documentation of their play. We will take a look at what it means to include children's perspectives in meaningful and authentic ways and why this is important. We will look at specific techniques that educators can use when co-constructing pedagogical documentation with children, using reflective dialogue to describe, and document events that are of significance to children and adults alike. Come prepared to discuss, comment, question, and participate in a session that may support you in your efforts to strengthen children's voices and participation in your practice.
